

Contact: Tiffany Coleman
Public Relations Specialist
(717) 228-8940
Email: javajane23@verizon.net

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

August 21, 2008

LOCAL WOMAN INVENTS AMAZING PRODUCT TO HELP ALL ANIMALS

Dillsburg, PA – Horses love ‘em. Donkeys dig ‘em. And if goats could talk, they would tell you to get a Scratch n All™ for every fence.

At an age when most people would be getting ready to snuggle up with a series of great novels and get comfortable with their retirement plans, a Dillsburg, PA woman is just itching to jump into business. Sixty-six year-old Cynthia Garry has created her first animal care product. The Scratch n All™ is a silicone rubber scratching and grooming pad. All animals can use it to satisfy their need to safely groom and scratch.

Cynthia is a life-long animal lover. She came up with the idea for her clever invention a few years ago when she noticed the doors on her barn were being worn away by her own animals rubbing against them. An exposed nail was enough to convince her something needed to be done before her animals ended up being seriously hurt. She met with a relative who once worked with a toy designer, and the rest is history.

These highest quality pads -- which are designed to be used in stables, barns, kennels, zoos and homes – are uniquely designed to be interlocking. Take a close look at the logo at the top of this letter. They can be used separately, or they fit together to create surfaces in any size or shape. Cynthia uses two pads for her horse, Sundance, and her donkey, Teddy, gets three. You can watch a video that shows them using the pads on her website at www.scratchnall.com. Once you see how this amazing invention works, and how much animals love it, you’ll want to know more about it.

For more information about Scratch n All™ pads, including how to order, check out Cynthia’s website, or you can call 1 (888) 9-SCRATCH. The pads are also available at a few select retailers in the Greater Dillsburg (York County, Pennsylvania) area.

If you’d like to schedule an interview with Cynthia, please call Tiffany at (717) 228-8940, or send an email to javajane23@verizon.net.

###